

My Foolish Heart

13                      14                      15                      16

white the ev-er con-stant moon. Take care. my fool-ish heart. There's a line be-tween love and fasc-i-na-tion. that's hard to see on an eve-ning such as

17                      18                      19

(same note)

20                      21                      22

this. for they both give the ve-ry same sen-sa-tion when you're

23                      24                      25                      26

lost in the ma-gic of a kiss. His lips are much too close to mine. Be-